Organizational Change Announcement

With the introduction of a company-based organization on April 1, 2013, the TOKYO KEIKI GROUP has vigorously promoted activities aimed at creating new value added. As a dynamic extension of this activity we announce that the commercial business segment of the Electronics Systems Company will be reorganized as a separate entity – the Communication & Control Systems Company – effective April 1, 2015. This will bring the total number of companies under the Group banner to six. The new Communication & Control Systems Company will provide customers with timely solutions, addressing customer needs and issues with precisely marketed products that embrace creative ideas while contributing to society in the process. We at TOKYO KEIKI are grateful for the kind support and patronage that our customers have extended to us in the past and are committed to living up to your expectations in the days ahead.

- The businesses of the Communication & Control Systems Company and Electronic Systems Company are as follows.

Communication & Control Systems Company

Manufacture, sale and repair of telecommunications devices and sensors, road and tunnel measurement & automatic control equipment and systems.

Electronic Systems Company

Manufacture, sale and repair of defense-related equipment and marine traffic systems.
